

PID Services, Inc. Announces the Launch of PID Energy, LLC

Lufkin, TX – PID Services, Inc. is excited to announce the launch of PID Energy, LLC, as a new manufacturer of oil and gas products. The first product released by PID Energy is a Conventional Rod Lift Pumping Unit manufactured 100% in the United States. The official launch date for the first conventional pumping unit deliveries will be the first quarter of 2016.

PID Energy is working with US foundries and US steel mills to supply materials to support the manufacturing of its domestic pumping unit. PID Energy will offer the oil and gas industry quality products manufactured 100% in the United States of America with the focus remaining on quality and customer service. Additionally, the Rod Lift Pumping Unit of PID Energy, LLC will be the first proprietary product offered by PID Services, Inc.

PID Energy is looking to fill the void of a domestic pumping unit left by many other pumping unit suppliers sourcing materials and fabricated parts, including complete pumping units, from foreign suppliers such as factories in China.

PID Energy has met with potential customers who express serious interest in purchasing domestic pumping units. Further, PID's efforts have been well received in the industry, including its US suppliers who are willing to partner in support of PID's efforts. Rather than outsource to foreign suppliers, PID Energy aims to grow and strengthen as a US manufacturer of choice.

PID Energy recently launched its website, www.pidenergy.com, which highlights the company's initial planned products. "We are starting with the most common sizes of units in the industry," said Scott Slusher, President of PID. "We will continue to add other sizes and other products to our portfolio as we grow and as our customers' demands increase."

PID Services, Inc. is a contract manufacturer in Lufkin, Texas since 2001 and will continue supporting its existing customers through contract manufacturing services that include fabrication, aerospace composite tooling and parts, electrical and instrumentation package design/building services, and export crating.

Contact Information:

PID Services, Inc.
M. Scott Slusher – President

Chris Nichols – Vice President, Business and Product Development